Dear Prof. McGregor,

my name is Chris Bentz, I'm a PostDoc at the University of Zurich involved in a project to build a text corpus for 100 typologically diverse languages in order to also give under-resourced languages a place in corpus linguistics (<https://www.spur.uzh.ch/en/departments/research/textgroup/MorphDiv.html>). In our search we came across your publication on "A grammar of Kuniyanti". I wanted to inquire whether you have objections to us extracting example sentences and texts in order to get machine readable texts of Gooniyandi, of course with reference to your original work. The aim is to eventually make the 100 language corpus available under a CC by 4.0 (non-commercial) for linguistic research, and to the public in general.

Thanks for your time,
Chris Bentz
